Virtually There

Today's business issues

The rise of geographically dispersed teams, globalization and pressures to adopt environmentally friendly practices have organizations turning to video conferencing for communication and collaboration. But finding an economical and effective solution can be difficult. Specialized expertise and resources are needed to assemble the components, implement the solution and manage the system.

Interactive environment fosters collaboration.

TELUS makes video conferencing easy with Virtually There – a packaged solution that utilizes high-performance technology to deliver a flexible collaboration experience. Leveraging decades of video conferencing expertise, TELUS has numerous packages to fit a wide range of environments. This versatile, easy-to-use video conferencing solution includes:

- High-definition video conferencing. The latest in video communication to help you clearly see visual communication cues.
- Professional grade display. Choose from a single 32" to a dual 50" or even a single 65" screen.
- Speakers and microphone. Chosen to optimize sound in your room environment.
- Touch screen remote system. One remote control system with a touch panel LCD and simple user interface.
- Cart. A mobile roll-about cart to instantly transform a room into a collaborative environment.
- Cable management system. Hides wires and ensures mobility for wheelchair-bound participants.
- Warranty. 3 year parts and labour included.
- Installation. Delivered through our industry-certified team.

Make an impact on your bottom line.

Virtually There is built to enhance collaboration and increase productivity, while at the same time ensuring easy operation for all users. TELUS provides a unique solution, specifically designed to meet your requirements and maximize business benefits such as:

Enhanced collaboration. Our solution enables participants to collaborate across the country with built-in state-of-the-art video conferencing equipment.

Increased productivity. All the collaboration technology is at your fingertips. There's no set-up time for equipment and no need for multiple remote controls – the touch screen control panel is designed to meet your room needs and is simple to operate.

Reduced travel costs. Virtual face-to-face sessions reduce the need for travel. In-house training courses can be delivered without having to bring everyone together.

The very best user experience. Impress clients, partners, suppliers and staff with the best audio-visual equipment available on the market: intelligent sound, plasma display screens and easy-to-operate touch panel control systems.
